Ratemaking is a major regulatory function that touches all aspects of utility operations. It also has wide-ranging ramifications for the different objectives that state utility regulators try to achieve.

Traditional ratemaking which is referred to as “Rate of Return (ROR) ratemaking”, or “Cost-of-Service Regulation” has been a mainstay of state public utility regulation since its inception.

This training will systemically discuss the various alternatives to traditional ratemaking which regulators utilize to set rates for cost recovery while addressing an ever-changing regulatory environment.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

Upon completion of this course, participants will be able to successfully:

- Define what is traditional rate of return ratemaking
- Discuss the positive and negative effects of rate of return ratemaking
- Explain why rate of return ratemaking is still appropriate in certain instances
- Define what is alternative ratemaking mechanisms
- Explain the reasons for interest in alternative ratemaking mechanisms
- Discuss the objectives of alternative ratemaking mechanisms
- Explain what are the most common forms of alternative ratemaking mechanisms

ONLINE DELIVERY & PARTICIPATION DETAILS

EUCI will use Microsoft Teams to facilitate participation in the upcoming event. Attendees do not need to have an existing Teams account to participate in the broadcast. The course will play in attendee's browser. When attendees sign on, their microphones are typically muted. Attendees should keep their mic muted until such time as it's needed to ask a question. During the event, participants will have the option of using a microphone to speak with the room and ask questions, or type in any questions via the chat window and our online administrator will relay your question to the instructor.

- Each attendee will receive an event invitation by e-mail, which will include one link to sign on for each half-day of the event (i.e., three links for a 1 1/2 day event). The appropriate link must be used to join each half-day event segment at the appropriate time.
- The remote meeting connection will open approximately 30 minutes before the start of the course. We encourage attendees to connect as early as possible in case of unforeseen problems.
