This course will evaluate the current status and activity in both renewable energy and carbon markets in the U.S., discussing their history and development process through regulation, policy, and increasing consumer awareness and demand. It will review the function of different environmental markets and products such as:

- Renewable Energy Credits (RECs) and their essential role in renewable energy developments and financial transactions
- Carbon/emission credits and their role in cap-and-trade, the Low Carbon Fuel Standard (LCFS) program, and in 'non-attainment area emissions reduction' opportunities
- Utility green pricing programs, corporate renewable procurement, & the role of RECS in bundled PPAs

LEARNING OUTCOMES

- Review the current landscape and history of environmental markets in North America
- Discuss fundamentals of registering, selling, settling and tracking RECs
- Review current carbon policy and pricing initiatives and their performance to date
- Evaluate optimal business & compliance strategies in environmental markets
- Analyze historical pricing information, market liquidity, and market fluctuations in both REC and carbon markets
- Review tips for trading, hedging your bets, deciding what to buy, and other mechanisms for successful transactions
- Identify types of environmental market transactions, contract options and processes to piece together a successful financial package

ONLINE DELIVERY & PARTICIPATION DETAILS

EUCI will use Microsoft Teams to facilitate participation in the upcoming event. Attendees do not need to have an existing Teams account to participate in the broadcast. The course will play in attendee's browser. When attendees sign on, their microphones are typically muted. Attendees should keep their mic muted until such time as it's needed to ask a question. During the event, participants will have the option of using a microphone to speak with the room and ask questions, or type in any questions via the chat window and our online administrator will relay your question to the instructor.

- Each attendee will receive an event invitation by e-mail, which will include one link to sign on for each half-day of the event (i.e., three links for a 1 ½ day event). The appropriate link must be used to join each half-day event segment at the appropriate time.
- The remote meeting connection will open approximately 30 minutes before the start of the course. We encourage attendees to connect as early as possible in case of unforeseen problems.
