“EUCI offers a careful balance of continuing education, thought-provoking discussion, and networking.”

SVP, Regulatory & External Affairs,
Baltimore Gas and Electric

This course provides a methodical review of financial and risk elements that influence the value of renewable energy power purchase agreements (PPAs). It is a companion to the Renewable Energy Power Purchase Agreements seminar, which instead focuses on key provisions and central legal concerns associated with PPAs.

The course will explore the many layers of financial considerations that confer value in these contracts for power. It will devote a granular look at the dependent relationships that often make the difference between a PPA that accomplishes its objectives over an extended period versus one that can disappoint almost immediately.

The instructors will review and demonstrate multiple analyses and methodologies that provide important financial and risk guidance in the structuring of PPAs for project developers, off-takers, investors, lenders and other transaction parties.

LEARNING OUTCOMES

- Review the fundamental financial components of PPA
- Examine the underlying risk factors that impact the value of a PPA
- Evaluate fleshed-out PPA terms
- Assess the relationship between PPA price and value
- Discuss project production-related guarantees
- Identify the differences between the standard contractual parameters used for wind and solar contracts
- Evaluate risk distinctions that especially apply to virtual/financial PPAs
